Let's Start!

Sometimes, it's hard dealing with the pressures of life.

Learning Outcome

Describe past experiences in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever received surprising news? What was it?
- Do you think you reacted in an appropriate way? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about family life.
- I can talk about people's past habits.
- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa gets an unexpected phone call.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Marco: Hey, V. What's up?
- Vanessa: Oh, it's been a crazy day. The restaurant was packed for weekend brunch, so customers jammed up the front desk all morning.
- Marco: Well, your restaurant has always been popular. People would line up outside even in the cold.
- Vanessa: And that's not the end of it. I was in the middle of keeping the crowd under control, and then my mother called.
- Marco: Oh, you haven't seen her for a long time, have you?
- Vanessa: My parents and I used to have regular visits, but that's stopped since my new job started. My father hasn't been well. He's been in the hospital since yesterday.
- Marco: Oh, I'm sorry to hear that. Is he alright?
- Vanessa: The doctors have performed some tests. They're not sure yet.
- Marco: What seems to be the problem?
- Vanessa: It's his heart. I know he used to eat a lot of deep-fried food and dishes high in fat. Maybe he hasn't stopped.
- Marco: Now the consequences have caught up with him.
- Vanessa: He has stopped taking walks, and he has started just watching movies online all day.

Let's Practice!

I exchange information with my partner.

Learning Points

Present Perfect and Past Simple Tenses

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a finished action or event that is connected to the present in some way.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about a finished action or event not connected to the present.

When you use the Present Perfect, there is a connection between what happened in the past and now. You can use time markers like for, just or ever with the Present Perfect.

When you use the Simple Past tense, the time is always in the past. You can use time markers, like then, ago, yesterday, when I was...

Look at the chart about how to form the Present Perfect tense:

Verb	Past Tense Form	Present Perfect Form	Example to be	was / were	has/have been	Your restaurant has always been popular.
to perform	performed	has/have performed	The doctors have performed some tests.
to see	saw	has/have seen	I haven't seen her for a long time.
to catch	caught	has/have caught	The consequences have caught up with him.

Examples:

- Customers jammed up the front desk all morning.
- My mother called when I was in the middle of my work.
- My father ate a lot of deep-fried food.

Learning Points

Used to* and Would for Past Habits

Would and used to have similar meanings. They are both used to describe something that happened regularly in the past but doesn't happen any longer.

However, there is an important difference between used to and would.

Would is not used unless you know that the time frame is in the past, while used to does not require this.

Both used to and would are followed by a verb in the base form.

Subject + used to + verb

My father used to take me to the park.

Subject + would + verb

My grandfather and I would go to the library once a week, and he would help me pick out a book.

Used to	Would
Customers used to come early in the morning.	They would line up outside even in the cold.
My parents and I used to have regular visits.	They would come in to town once a week.
My father used to eat a lot of dishes high in fat.	He would eat that for dinner almost every day.
