

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

There are so many pressures and demands at work!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can show interest, enthusiasm and sympathy.
- I can offer advice and solutions.

Ask your partner:

- Do you feel stressed at work or at school?
- What advice can you give to someone who has demands or pressure at work or at school?

Let's Explore!

How are things going with Sally's job?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally Davis <sdavis@cambridgelife.com> wrote:

Hey, Vanessa. I was quite dismayed to hear your restaurant tales. I've realized now that when you're working in a corporate setting, mistakes must happen. The editor in chief has set an unrealistic deadline for the number of articles we have to complete this week. After they are written, there are still a series of checks to be done and images to be attached. They have obviously found mistakes because we're so rushed. I have stopped taking lunch breaks and coffee breaks. I've also worked every night at home just to catch up, and I've sacrificed time with my family. I'm so stressed. What do you think I should do?

Vanessa Wright <vanessa.rocks@mail.com> wrote:

Hi, Sally. I'm sorry to hear that you've been struggling under such demanding conditions. It must be difficult for you, being so stressed. You'd better get more sleep!

I think you ought to have an honest conversation with your editor. It's important that they understand the efforts and sacrifices you have put forward for the sake of the publication.

Let's Practice!

Marco and Vanessa talk about advice.

Instructions: Read the situations. Look at the options a), b) and c). Select the correct one according to the sentence.

1. Vanessa says: I just bought a bunch of new tools.
 - a. You ought to taking a look.
 - b. You ought to take a look.
 - c. You ought to takes a look.

2. Marco says: You can learn a few things watching me, you know.
 - a. You'd better watch closely.
 - b. You better watch closely.
 - c. You best watch closely.

3. Marco wants to get started on cooking. He says:
 - a. I better get cracking.
 - b. I'd better get cracking.
 - c. I'd better go cracking.

Let's Practice!

What do I have to do when I make a stir-fry?

Instructions: Proofread the paragraph. Cross out the incorrect word. Then write the correct word above.

To make your stirr-fry , you've go to have to use a cutting board. Then you're got to use your chef's knives to cut the vegetables. After that, you're going to has to take your garlic dress and crush the garlic. Finally, you've got too put it all in the walk. You have your create!

Extension Activity

Tell us what you do to take your stress away.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think of a time when you were really stressed at school or at your job.
- Write 3 sentences on what caused the stress.
- Write 3 sentences on what you did to relieve the stress.
- Give advice to your partner in English on how they can relieve stress.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write complete statements on what caused my stress.

☐ ☐

I write complete statements expressing advice.

☐ ☐

I verbally share advice with my partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- dismayed (adjective): to cause someone to feel worried or upset
e.g. She was quite dismayed to hear the restaurant tales.
- corporate (adjective): having to do with a corporation
e.g. The chef's restaurant was in a corporate setting.
- unrealistic (adjective): when something is not sensible and appropriate e.g. The editor in chief has set an unrealistic deadline.
- article (noun): a piece of writing that is included in a magazine or newspaper e.g. There was a number of articles to complete this week.
- obviously (adverb): a way that is easy to see, understand, or recognize e.g. They have obviously found mistakes because we're so rushed.
- rushed (adjective): to move or do something very quickly
e.g. The articles had mistakes because we're so rushed.

Learning Points

Showing Interest, Enthusiasm and Sympathy

You use certain expressions to show interest at what someone is talking about.
There are expressions to show that you are enthusiastic about an idea.
There are also expressions to show sympathy at some sad news or someone's feelings.

The following table contain examples of expressions that show interest, enthusiasm, or surprise.

Interest	Please do tell. Then what happened? Hey, what's going on?
Enthusiasm	Wow! That's great. Awesome. Let's do it.
Sympathy	Oh, that's too bad. Oh, that's unfortunate. Oh, that must be difficult. I'm sorry to hear that.

Had Better and Ought to for What is Advisable

You use the modal had better and ought to to give advice.
You can also use had better to express a strong suggestion.
You can use the contraction 'd better when you speak.

Ought to is used to give advice.
You ought to have an honest conversation with your editor.

Might want to is used for an advisable suggestion.
You might want to get some rest to relieve your stress.

Had better can be used as a strong recommendation or warning.
You'd better get more sleep.

